Stumbling Rocks
News has it that construction of Walt Disney World, Florida's version of Disneyland, is moving ahead, despite some obstacles. Seems that there was a labor dispute over which building trade would be responsible for making plastic rocks, union masons or union plasterers. Quit the Mickey Mouse stuff, fellas... There's more work to be done. - Atlanta (Ga.) Journal and Constitution

Men Only

From our It-Was-Bound-To-Happen Department: A women's lib group is suing the Soap Box Derby people seeking to force them to include girls in the competition. Heretofore, they have been excluded.

It may be that the trial court will draw the line on some of this women's lib business. After all, it takes young men considerable to get over their natural fear of women drivers. If female driving competition is introduced at a tender age, it could well be that young men would never recover from that trauma. - Charlotte (N.C.) News

Ames To That

From the It's Hard to Argue With That Department: Quote from the Federal Personnel Manual: "One measure of whether a particular position is expected under a generic exception such as 'expert,' 'attorney,' 'economist,' is whether the appointee is an 'expert,' an 'attorney,' an 'economist.' The position cannot be such a position unless the appointee is able to perform the required duties." - Huntsville (Ala.) Times

Wipe-Out

The state legislature just increased the fine for littering on North Carolina highways to $500 per violation. That's fine. But it does put penalties for other highway offenses a little out of kilter. For instance, it is now a bigger crime to throw a Kleenex out the car window than it is to pass a stopped school bus. - Charlotte (N.C.) Observer

86-Million Loss for Lockheed

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp., the nation's largest defense contractor, has reported a net operating deficit of $86.3 million for 1970. It said setbacks on the C5A military transport plane and higher administrative and interest expenses on the L1011 Tristar airbus program were responsible.

Chairman Daniel Haughton and President Carl Kotchian said after a board of directors meeting Wednesday: "Final solutions to all of our difficulties are not yet in hand but the pattern for resolving them is becoming clearer."

The company said its year-end audit showed a net loss of $86.3 million or $7.60 per share, against a 1969 net loss of $32.6 million or $2.90 a share. The fourth-quarter balance sheet showed a net loss of $96.6 million or $8.52 a share compared to a loss of $56.3 million or $4.99 for the fourth quarter of 1969.

The big quarterly loss was blamed on defense contract writeoffs on the C5A, the world's largest airplane, and the Cheyenne helicopter.

The company's auditors refused to express an opinion on Lockheed's financial report until "uncertainties are significantly reduced."

One of the uncertainties is the company's Tristar jet program. President Nixon has asked Congress to guarantee $250 million in private bank loans for the Tristar. The program was threatened with cancellation after Rolls-Royce, Ltd., manufacturer of engines for the plane, went into receivership.

The government-backed loans, Lockheed said, are needed for the Tristar development and to meet redesigned Defense Department contracts for the C5A and the Cheyenne.

Hot Springs Has More Than Its Share of Crystal Ball Gazers

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A lady who says she has regularly scheduled contact with spirits in the "afterworld" and a former professional puppeteer are among nine people in Hot Springs who delve into psychic activity.

Mrs. Julia Miller is the spiritualist who does individual readings, conducts worship services, holds classes for aspiring mediums and leads seances.

Kurtis Wollglen, originator of the Kurtis Puppets that have played Las Vegas, the Ed Sullivan Show and appeared in motion pictures, uses Tarot cards to read character and glimpse into the future. The other seven who are listed with the Hot Springs city clerk as "fortune tellers" are a palmist and six persons who use various techniques to tap the current and apparently continuing interest in the occult.

To operate legally within the city limits, a "fortune teller" must pay an occupation tax that amounts to $50 per year. Wollglen is outside the city's jurisdiction and exempt.

Charges for solution to problems or a simple, quick peek at tomorrow range from $1 to $5 with special group rates. There could be extenuating circumstances.

Suntan Lotions Are Worthless, So Say Federal Drug Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of Americans are on the verge of a love affair in which they're certain to get burned.

They don't have to get burned by the object of their affection, the sun. But arrayed against their hopes of making it through the summer without pain are sun tan preparations which offer no protection; sunburn remedies whose curative powers are disputed; drugs, soaps and cosmetics which can make sun bathers super-sensitive, and their own ignorance.

Americans spend more than $50 million a year looking for the right suntan preparation, although an official of the Food and Drug Administration says, "There's nothing that will prevent a sunburn except staying out of the sun."

The American Medical Association won't go that far. It cautions moderation in exposure to the sun and says, "Properly applied suntan lotion can be helpful in preventing a burn and promoting a tan if you use one suited to your needs."

That's the problem. "The selection of one brand of suntan preparation over another is virtually a hit-and-miss procedure," said the AMA's Committee on Cosmetics.

The odds favor missing. An AMA survey of 10 stores turned up 56 different creams, lotions and oils, of which 32 listed no sunscreening agent to protect against sunburn.

Claims made in the label on a suntan preparation are a buyer's most important clue in lotion hunting.

Under federal law, if the label says a product prevents sunburn, the product is considered a drug. The label must list its active ingredients, which must include the chemicals called sunscreens. If a product's label says only that it promotes tanning, it is classified a cosmetic and is not required to list ingredient or protect against the sun.

How widely the effectiveness of products that claim to prevent sunburn can vary is indicated by a study in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The study showed that three experimental formulas, which have since been marketed, filtered out as much as 80 percent of the sun's burning rays. The more popular products in the same line provided about 10 percent protection, with several others offering even less.

The study, done on human volunteers, said none of the 24 popular brands tested offered adequate protection for more than an hour, and 20 products afforded almost no protection for even 30 minutes when the subjects were sweating heavily.

The makers of tanning butters, mineral oils and baby oils promise help toward a deep, dark tan. But the AMA warns against overconfidence in products without sunscreens and notes that baby and mineral oils in particular "will not promote tanning or prevent burning."

Here's an Idea of What a Bartender Is Tired of Hearing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a bartender gets tired of hearing:

"What do you have to do to get a drink on the house here—get a ladder and climb up on the roof?"

"You know those 10 different drinks the ladies at the back table ordered, Alfie? Well, hold 'em. They've all changed their minds again."

"When I feel I've had enough to drink, you won't have to tell me. I'll tell you."

"Did you know the Pilgrim fathers landed where they did because the Mayflower had run out of beer? If they had had a few more kegs aboard, they might have come ashore on Miami Beach and all died rich."

"I'm not asking you to load my drink, Alfie, but don't you think you ought to pour at least enough to cover the bottom of the glass?"

"I can whip anybody at the bar half my size—or even smaller."

"I know you've heard all my old troubles Alfie, but how would you like to be the first to listen to a couple of my new ones?"

"Put this one on the cuff, Alfie, and when my ship comes in the first tab I'll pay is yours."

"The last three rounds were for the road. What'll we make this one for?"

"If you had to get arthritis, Alfie, why did you have to get it in your pouring arm?"

"Don't let them needle you, Alfie, old boy. You're getting better. That last drink you managed to spill more in the glass than you did on the bar."

"I'm not worrying about when we get the troops out of Vietnam. I'm just worried about whether I can get myself out of here in time to catch the last train home."

"Who's that axe-faced dame sitting alone at the front of the bar, Alfie? Oh, excuse me. I didn't even know you were married."

"There's a fly in my drink, Alfie. Wouldn't it be cheaper in the long run to swat them rather than try to drown them in this stuff?"

"Put some milk in it for my ulcer and some bourbon in it for me."

"Ring up my wife, Alfie, and tell her to get the kids off the street—Daddy's driving home."

"I think it's a funny story, Alfie. Pour me another Martini."

"And I'll tell it to you again—this time slowly and with gestures."

Contractor Is Held in Labor Deaths

By KEITH HEARN
Associated Press Writer
YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — A farm labor contractor is charged formally in a mass murder case that has yielded the hacked bodies of 12 men found buried in Northern California peach orchards.

A search continued today for more possible victims of the assailant who hacked each of the 12 in the back of the head with a machete or a large, heavy knife.

Juan V. Corona, 37, a migrant labor recruiter for 15 years in Yuba City's peach and prune growing region, was held in isolation in the three-cell women's section of the small Sutter County jail.

Corona was taken before Justice Court Judge J. J. Hankins Wednesday for a brief, closed hearing on 10 counts of murder filed by Dist. Atty. G. Dave Teja. Two bodies were found after those papers were drawn.

Roy J. Van den Heuvel, Sutter County public defender named as Corona's counsel, asked that newsmen and photographers be barred from the hearing.

Before the hearing, Sheriff Roy D. Whiteaker declared: "We're certain he committed the murders."

But he said he knew of no motive—"none at all, none that we can discover."

"All of the murder victims have the same type of wounds in the back of the head," the sheriff said. "I would rule out an axe as the murder weapon."

"It could have been either a machete or a heavy knife."

Most of the victims also have been stabbed in the chest and some were cut on the face, he said. Corona was arrested shortly after 4 a.m. Wednesday at his three-year-old, $22,000 home in the new Richland Road subdivision in Yuba City after officers had dug nine victims from sandy orchard graves three to five feet deep.

The sheriff and his deputies refused to say what evidence pointed to the husky 5-foot-11 Mexican-American known to his Anglo neighbors as a very quiet man with little command of English.

Telegrapher Strike Is Called

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO United Telegraph Workers has ordered a nationwide strike of some 17,000 Western Union workers at 12:01 a.m. Monday, and a union leader said the walkout appears unavoidable.

"I don't see any chance of getting it settled," said union president E. L. Hageman, who said the union is demanding a two-year contract including 16 percent in wage hikes each year. The workers now average $3.47 per hour, he said.

The current contract expires at midnight Sunday.

"The company hasn't offered us a penny for wage increases," offering only some minor improvements, Hageman said in an interview.

He said chief company negotiator Gerald P. Kent told the union there would be no wage hike unless the Federal Communications Commission first approved telegraph rate hikes.

Balkan Plane Hijacked to Vienna

VIENNA (AP) — Four men hijacked a Romanian plane carrying 15 passengers and a crew of 4 today and forced it to fly to Vienna, where it landed safely, the Austrian news agency APA reported.

It was not immediately known where the plane, belonging to Romania's Tarom airline, was when the men commandeered it.

The nationality of the hijackers was not known, but the APA report said they were believed to be Romanians.

It was the fourth forced landing of an East European plane in Austria.

Last August a father and his two sons forced a Czechoslovak airliner to land here. Three months earlier a Czechoslovak clerk wounded the pilot of a two-engine company-owned plane with a pocket knife to enforce landing at Linz. In November 1969, two Poles hijacked a Polish Lot airplane to Vienna by telling the pilot they had explosives hidden in a bag.

Bomb Threat in Air Hoax, Post Reward

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A man who claimed he pulled off Wednesday's half-million dollar airline hoax called Perth Airport today saying he had hidden a bomb aboard a jetliner with 77 passengers aboard heading for Adelaide.

Emergency service at Adelaide, 1,300 miles east of Perth, was alerted and passengers aboard the aircraft were told of the warning. The plane landed safely, and the craft and passengers' luggage was searched. No bomb was found.

Following Wednesday's confidence trick, airline officials are prepared for further hoaxes. Another "Mr. Brown" telephoned Sydney police headquarters today and said he would repeat the bomb hoax.

Scientific experts in Sydney have been examining the bomb which "Mr. Brown" left in an airport locker Wednesday.

In notes beside the bomb, the robber said a similar device was aboard a Qantas Boeing 707 airliner bound for Hong Kong.

The plane, with 128 people aboard, landed safely after the $560,000 ransom was paid. A later call received from the blackmailer advised there was no bomb aboard.

The New South Wales state police commissioner, Norman Allan, said a bomb of 12 gelignite sticks, which he described as a "fiendish device," was expertly made to explode on descent below 20,000 feet. Due to the reverse action of the altimeter it would not explode during ascent.

Banks and shops throughout Australia have been given a list of the ransom money notes' serial numbers.

A Qantas spokesman said the airline was not insured against the loss. Rewards totalling $56,000 have been offered by the federal and state governments for the capture of the guilty party.

4 Jews Convicted by Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Four Latvian Jews were convicted today of "anti-Soviet slander" at the end of a closed trial in Riga. The court imposed prison sentences ranging from one year to three years.

Reporting the verdict, Tass said the "criminal group" had been convicted of reprinting "anti-Soviet publications from Tel Aviv and duplicating other slanderous materials."

The stiffest term, a three-year sentence, was imposed on Arkady Shpilberg, who protested in court that he was being tried simply because he wanted to go to Israel.

Red Sailor Coast Guard Turned Down Sentenced 10 Years

MOSCOW (AP) — Simas Kudirka, the Soviet sailor who was refused asylum by the U.S. Coast Guard last November, has been sentenced to 10 years in a prison camp, a court official in Soviet Lithuania said today.

The Lithuanian Supreme Court convicted Kudirka of treason last week, the court spokesman said in a telephone conversation from Vilnius, the Lithuanian capital.

He refused to give any details of the trial. But a 10-year sentence for treason is comparatively light.

There is no appeal from a supreme court sentence less than death and therefore no further legal action in the case was expected.

Kudirka tried to defect to the United States last Nov. 23 when his ship, the Sovetskaya Litva, tied up to the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Vigilant for an officers' conference on fishing rights.

While the two ships were linked, Kudirka jumped onto the Vigilant and asked for asylum. The Soviet ship captain asked for his return and 10 hours later, on orders from Coast Guard headquarters in Boston, the Vigilant handed him back.

The Coast Guard's decision was widely criticized, and two officers, Rear Adm. William B. Ellis and Capt. Fletcher W. Brown Jr., were given their choice of retirement or a court-martial for their part in the decision. They retired.

Kennedy Center Opens Tonight With Benefit for Youth Education

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts opens its doors to the public for the first time tonight in a preview to raise money and honor the nations that have given millions of dollars in gifts.

The massive marble structure will not open for public performances until September.

Tonight's event, continuing officially until 2 a.m. Friday, has been sold out for three weeks. With tickets costing $100 each, or $40 each for persons under 35, some 3,500 have been sold and many other checks returned.

Socialites, arts patrons, performers and others are coming from all over the country, many of them have been invited to attend one of nearly 100 private dinner parties planned around the capital in advance.

Proceeds from the gala preview are earmarked for a special education fund to provide low-cost tickets for young persons, the elderly and the poor when the center officially opens.

Special guests of honor will be the ambassadors of a dozen foreign nations which already have announced gifts of construction materials or furnishings.

Norman McC. Blair, center director, did not dispute an estimate that these gifts are worth in the neighborhood of $3 million. And he noted to a reporter that some countries "like Denmark, where I was, have their own memorials to President Kennedy—a children's home." Blair is a former ambassador to Denmark and to the Philippines.

William McC. Blair, center director, did not dispute an estimate that these gifts are worth in the neighborhood of $3 million. And he noted to a reporter that some countries "like Denmark, where I was, have their own memorials to President Kennedy—a children's home." Blair is a former ambassador to Denmark and to the Philippines.

The most costly gift came from Italy: more than 3,500 tons of Carrar marble which face the exterior of the structure, 630 feet long, 300 feet wide and 100 feet high.

The British embassy announced Wednesday a committee has been set up in London to select a piece of sculpture as that nation's gift. About 30 countries have indicated they will provide gifts before the center opens.

Much work remains to be done.

Workmen were seeping up debris in the unfinished opera house late Thursday in preparation for tonight's gala, which will feature music by Meyer Davis and Peter Duchen but no formal entertainment.

Other workmen were vacuuming the red carpets in the lounges and the Hall of Nations, a huge corridor, 60 feet high.

Volunteers were pressing flowered tablecloths for the round tables where a buffet supper will be available. Other volunteers were assembling centerpiecees; carnation, geraniums and greenery decorated with tiny Christmas-type lights.

Big Storm Ravaging Oklahoma

A savage, far-flung storm system clawed northeastern Oklahoma Wednesday night with pounding hail, driving rain and 80-mile-an-hour winds. Damage was so extensive that an accurate estimate may not be possible for days.

Almost unbelievably, no serious injuries were reported—only cuts from flying broken glass. Hospitals reported treating 43 persons.

The rampaging winds overturned dozens of mobile homes in and around Tulsa, and knocked out electrical service in Tulsa, Broken Arrow, Jenks, Cushing and Pawnee.

The storms were spawned along a 125-mile line from Tulsa to central Oklahoma. Police in Oklahoma City said five funnels were confirmed in the skies over eastern Oklahoma County.

Telephone service to numerous small communities in northeastern Oklahoma was disrupted for hours, producing an ominous silence until emergency radio and power systems were pressed into service.

Three mobile homes were overturned in Stillwater. Heavy hail reported caused extensive damage to wheat around Wagona and Carmen.

Tornado funnels aloft were unofficially reported in an around Tulsa and at Sand Springs, Broken Arrow, Cushing, Pawnee and Perkins. Law enforcement officials could confirm none of the twisters.

Broken Arrow was completely blacked out for a time, as was nearby Jenks. Public Service Co. officials said about 40 primary feeder lines were out at one time, plunging about 40,000 persons into darkness.

Service crews worked throughout the night repairing fallen lines, although one official admitted it would be "some time today" before full power is restored to the area.

Tulsa and Broken Arrow appeared the hardest hit.

The whole town caught it," said a Broken Arrow police spokesman. "We've got trees down, power lines down and lots of property damage."

Shattered glass in the Tulsa suburb of 18,000 littered Main Street and the powerful winds damaged many residences by hurling uprooted trees and branches against them.

Big Damage Verdict Against Esso

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A federal district court jury here Wednesday returned a $215,200 verdict in favor of the plaintiffs against Humble Oil and Refining Co.

The suits were brought by the widows of George L. Mitchell, 26, of Batesville and Floyd M. Marshall, 29, of Newark, who were burned fatally in an explosion and fire in an Esso service station here Aug. 5.

Officials said the men were cleaning out a storeroom when the explosion occurred, which jammed the door and trapped them inside.

The jury deliberated about four hours before awarding $77,200 in the Mitchell case with $30,000 going to his 2-year-old son and the balance to his 19-year-old widow.

Marshall's three children, ranging in age from 1 year to 3 years, received $30,000 each with the balance of the $138,000 judgment going to the widow.

Damage was reported minor. No charges were filed by City Officer Everett Edwards.

3 Whites Held in Death of Negro Girl

DREW, Miss. (AP) — Three young whites are in jail on charges that they murdered an 18-year-old black girl, who had graduated from Drew High School as an honor student hours before she was gunned down on a city street.

The Tuesday night death of Joretha Collier touched off rock-throwing incidents in the small Sunflower County town and prompted Mississippi NAACP President Aaron Henry to telegraph President Nixon.

"Your help is needed immediately to put down a wave of senseless killings of black citizens of Mississippi by white citizens," Henry said in the telegram. It was sent to Nixon, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and several congressmen.

Henry said later the racial tension in north Mississippi is due to a voter registration drive by the NAACP.

"A group of students for Seton Hall University in New Jersey, black and white kids, have been helping with the voter drive and there's tension because some of the whites in the communities are irked that white students are staying with black families," Henry said.

The three whites—two brothers and their nephew—were arrested in nearby Cleveland early Wednesday and murder charges were filed by County Atty. Frank Croethwait Jr.

The three were identified as Wesley Parks, 26, of Memphis, Tenn.; Wayne Parks, 25, of Drew; and Allen Wilkerson, 19, of Memphis.

The victim was hit in the neck by a single shot from a passing car as she stood with a small group of blacks in front of a grocery store.

"It is doubtful if they even knew Miss Collier," Henry said. "Apparently they were out to kill a black, any black."

In the telegram to Nixon, Henry said Edgar Higginbottom, an Ecu, Miss., Negro, was shot and killed by a white Friday night.

Henry said Eddie McClinton, a black war veteran, was shot three times and killed by a white Sunday night in the Tallahatchie County town of Sumner. McClinton was killed while using a serve-yourself gas station pump, the NAACP official said.

Tallahatchie County Sheriff E. R. Dogan said as far as he knows McClinton wasn't shot. "There was nothing unusual" about McClinton's death, Dogan said. However, the sheriff said he did not investigate and referred a reporter to his deputy, A. J. Downs.

State Money Spent in San Juan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Records in the state auditor's office show the state paid $4,218.62 to send four members of the Racing Commission and its attorney and secretary to a convention last March in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Commission members making the trip were Guy Newcomb of Osceola, Dr. J. D. Bilberry of McGehee, H. M. Orsburn of Dardanelle and Dr. Richard Springer of Hot Springs. Mrs. Ruth Douglass, the commission's administrative secretary, and attorney John P. Gill of Little Rock also attended.

The six attended the 37th annual convention and racing conference of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners at the American Hotel March 19-27.

According to vouchers in the auditor's office, $1,486.25 of the money was for air travel for the six. The rest was for lodging and meals for six days, convention fees and miscellaneous expenses.

Newcomb, who was chairman at the time, said the total was reasonable considering the number in the Arkansas party and the distance they had to travel. In addition to the cost to the state, he said, the trip "cost each commissioner several hundred dollars out of his own pocket."

According to vouchers in the auditor's office, special authority was requested of the state Administration Department to pay Gill's expenses on the trip. H. M. Orsburn of Dardanelle, a commission member, said Gill attended the conference because the commissioners felt he should become familiar with new racing rules and regulations that were discussed at the meeting.

Gill was retained on a fee basis last year for the commission's investigation of the Southland Racing Corp. at West Memphis and now handles other legal matters for the commission, Newcomb said.

Nixon Bows to Senate on Watson Pick

By GREGG HERRINGTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with threats of a bitter opposition, President Nixon has decided not to nominate former Rep. Albert W. Watson of South Carolina to the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, administration sources say.

But these sources say Watson, who has built a reputation as a staunch opponent of racial integration, will get some administration job not requiring Senate confirmation.

Senate opposition to the 48-year-old Columbia attorney who served eight years in the House convinced the President naming him would result in a battle reminiscent of last year's Supreme Court battles, the sources say.

In those Senate brawls, Nixon nominees Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. and G. Harrold Carswell were rejected for the high court.

And, according to sources in Congress and close to the White House, the predicted fight over a Watson nomination would have ended the same way: defeat for a Southerner and embarrassment for the President.

First public word that Watson was in line for the vacancy on the three-judge panel, the nation's highest military court, came last Thursday from Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C. Thurmond issued a two-page statement announcing Watson "has been given tentative approval by President Nixon for appointment to the U.S. Military Court of Appeals, subject only to necessary clearance procedures."

The statement said Thurmond was "confident those procedures can be successfully concluded in the next few weeks."

Republican and Democratic senators followed the Thurmond statement by starting a quiet effort to headoff any nomination for Watson.

One congressional source said Republican Senate leaders Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Robert P. Griffin of Michigan made it clear to the White House they could not support Watson's nomination.

Apportioning Picture Said to Be Fair

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Eugene Kelley, executive secretary to Gov. Dale Bumpers, said Wednesday that a number of adjustments will be made in the preliminary legislative redistricting plans because errors have been found in maps on which the board's work was based.

Kelley said, however, that he expected no major change in district lines to result.

The board has tentatively approved plans to draw new districts for the Arkansas Senate and House of Representatives, but neither plan has been finalized.

The errors stemmed from the fact that the maps were not completely up-to-date in its reflection of city limits and township lines, Kelley said.

He said that if county clerks would check to determine whether the board's tentative plans accurately reflected county township lines and if city officials would make the same determination as to municipal boundaries, the board would make appropriate adjustments before the plans are given final adoption.

Without correction of such errors, officials would encounter problems in distributing ballots to the proper areas at election time, Kelley said.

"These are the sort of problems the governor was concerned about throughout the process of drawing new district lines," Kelley said.

The maps in question were provided by the office of Secretary of State Kelly Bryant, but Kelley said he did not believe that Bryant had been responsible for any unexplainable oversight.

"The maps are constantly in a state of change," he said. "We thought we had checked everything, but it's extremely easy to have an oversight in this matter."

Kelley said the errors should have been discovered early in the redistricting process when census figures, on which redistricting is based, were being posted on the maps by individuals loaned to the board by the state Highway Department and Legislative Joint Auditing Committee.

The board had processed on the assumption that the data prepared for the redistricting process was accurate, although it wasn't, Kelley said.

Thus far, about a half-dozen errors have been called to his attention, he said.

One concerns an error in the board's map in the limits of West Memphis, Kelley said. The city's boundaries encompass

Press Meet for Nixon Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will hold a no-question-barred news conference on live radio and television next Tuesday evening, the White House says.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday Nixon had no advance announcements to make.

The President's latest news conference was held May 1 in San Clemente, Calif. Questions were limited to domestic issues and there was no live television coverage.

The conference will be held in the White House East Room. The exact time will be announced later.

more territory and people than reflected in the board's maps. Some townships which have consolidated where shown on the board's maps as separate, unconsolidated townships, resulting in a few cases in legislative district lines cutting through townships along preconsolidation boundaries, he said.

Three such instances have been found in Benton County, two in Pope County and another in Logan County, Kelley said. "There may be more than that," Kelley said. "It's well that they're being brought to light now rather than after the plans have been finalized."

Bryant was out of the state Wednesday. Atty. Gen. Ray H. Thornton Jr. also was absent. They, along with Bumpers, make up the board. Kelley has represented Bumpers throughout most of the board's work.

Kelley said another board meeting will be set after Bryant and Thornton can be contacted to see what meeting time would be most suitable to their schedules.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Buckley Jr. and his "Firing line" program, seen in its live premiere Wednesday on most of the public broadcasting stations, is a delightful addition to their schedules.

Agree or disagree with Buckley, it matters not. The program consists of the self-assured, witty conservative spokesman tangling ideological ly with his guests.

In the first program, there are two, with something in common. There was former Rep. Allard Lowenstein, a New York Democrat, and Rep. Paul McCloskey Jr. of California, a Republican.

Lowenstein was an instigator of the "Dump Johnson" movement and now hopes to defeat President Nixon. McCloskey, who disagrees with the administration's war policy, is preparing to run in at least two presidential preference primaries, New Hampshire and Alaska.

For most of the hour, it was like watching three fighters in the same ring, each using a very different style.

Buckley moves around fast, tries to overwhelm adversaries with a flood of words, dates, statistics and quick ripostes. He found a worthy opponent in Lowenstein who has a direct, lucid approach to an argument and a quick, subtle wit. McCloskey, serious and dogged, was grimly determined to explain his convictions.

The discussion centered on the war. McCloskey's position is that it is being fought without the consent of Congress and against the wishes of the American people. The talk, which often floated away from the main issue, was occasionally heated but always without personal rancor or angry outbursts.

It was interesting to see McCloskey in action and to hear opposing viewpoints. Mostly, though, it was watching the fluent Buckley handle the flying arguments. Although it was two against one, Buckley had the upper hand since it is his show and they were only invited guests.

NBC's special, "An Evening With the Harlem Globetrotters" was broadcast in the same time period as the Buckley show, but could hardly be considered a conflict. It is doubtful if one program pulled many viewers away from the other.

It was pretty good entertainment—magnificently rehearsed and timed—for those who enjoy watching a referee get hit by a bucket of water, a pause in the game while one of the stars dances with a girl from the audiences, and some really slick tricks with a basketball.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. AND MRS. VAN MORGAN

Miss Jo Ann Burke and Van M. Morgan exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony Thursday evening, May 13, in the 5th & Grady St. Church of Christ with the minister, David Nicholas, officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eulas W. Burke and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Morgan, all of Hope.

The background of the altar setting was formed by the archway covered with English Ivy, tapering down to the baskets of greenery. A single basket of gladioli and mums was placed in the center, with ivy, greenery, and candles in seven-branched candelabra on either side. Pewes were marked with ivy and ribbon.

Preceding the ceremony, candles were lighted by Miss Patricia Harris, cousin of the bride, and Miss Sheila Martin. Mrs. Jack Ashworth sang "Bridge Over Troubled Water", and the processional music, "Faithful and True", was provided by the chorus of Harding College via album. A group of the church singers sang "The Lord is My Shepherd" at the close of the ceremony.

The father of the bride escorted his daughter to the altar. Her full length, voluminous skirted gown, fashioned by her mother, was of white bridal satin and organza in the empire style with long bishop sleeves. The bodice was overlaid with reembroidered Alencon lace appliques, and had a rounded neckline. The waist length illusion veil was secured to a lace headpiece enhanced with rhinestones and pearls. She carried a colonial nosegay of white marguerite daisies, yellow rosebuds, gypsophilla, and ivy with loveknots tied in ribbon streamers. Her jewelry was a diamond pendant necklace, a gift of the groom, and diamond earrings.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Jimmy Minton of Maud, Texas, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Ginger Burke, also sister of the bride, and Miss Judy Bright. All wore full length turquoise blue organdy dresses fashioned in the empire style, trimmed with sapphire blue velvet ribbons overlapping in the back, and secured with rhinestone buttons. Each wore blue velvet chockers trimmed with rhinestones. Clusters of white daisies were worn in their hair, and each carried colonial nosegays of white daisies, yellow rosebuds, gypsophilla, yellow carnations, and ivy with ribbon streamers.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Mack Morgan. Groomsman were his father, and Tommy Lavender. Ushers were Tony Reeves of Nashville, cousin of the bride, and Greg Martin.

The bride's mother wore an aqua knit dress with white accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Following the ceremony, the reception was in the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Pete Martin greeted the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line. Miss Sheila Martin was in charge of the guest book, where a bridal candle nestled in white daisies burned. Guests were invited into the serving room by Mrs. Bedia Carver, aunt of the bride. Forming a background of the serving table were wedding bells with white, blue, and yellow streamers. The table was covered with turquoise blue organdy, overlaid with lace. It was centered by the three-tiered cake which was topped with a bride and groom, surrounded by white and blue daisies. Wedding motif flowers decorated the crystal candelabra which held tapered candles. Crystal bowls and silver appointments completed the setting. Those serving were Mrs. Clara Arterbury, Mrs. Wanda East, Mrs. Jim Morgan, and Mrs. Calvin Stovall.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride wore a white knit pants suit on which was pinned a corsage of yellow rosebuds. They are now at home in Hope where both are employed.

Houston Wins Double Bill From Padres

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

They should have had an inkling that things were going to be slightly out of whack in San Diego Wednesday night when a Cuban manager sent a Panamanian outfielder to the plate with a Japanese bat.

The Houston Astros won the zany opener of a two-night doubleheader from the Padres 2-1 and Larry Dierker then hurled a one-hitter—Ollie Brown's two-out single in the seventh inning—to win the nightcap 8-0 for a Houston sweep.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia nipped the New York Mets 3-2 in 12 innings, St. Louis trounced the Chicago Cubs 9-4 and took over first place in the NL East, Pittsburgh shaded Cincinnati 2-0, San Francisco downed Los Angeles 6-4 and Montreal battered Atlanta 11-1.

American League scores: Boston 3, Washington 2; Baltimore 3, Cleveland 2; New York Yankees 2, Detroit 1; California 7, Oakland 5 in 12 innings; Minnesota 4, Milwaukee 1 and Chicago White Sox 7, Kansas City 2.

The fun started early in San Diego when manager Preston Gomez of the Padres let starter Al Santorini pitch to one batter in the opener and then brought on southpaw Dave Roberts to face Houston's predominantly left-handed line-up.

"I knew Harry Walker wanted to pitch Dierker against Roberts," Gomez said. "It would have been his best against our best. What I did was something I've done before in the minors. When they saw Santorini warming up they had all those left-hand hitters ready to hit against him."

Walker, however, has seen that play before.

"Leo Durocher used to do that when he was managing the Dodgers," said the Houston skipper. "He did it against St. Louis when I played with the Cardinals and it always seemed to rile us up. It seemed to backfire more often than not."

Even the San Diego players didn't know what was going on. They could hear the thump-thump of ball hitting mitt as Roberts warmed up secretly in the San Diego Chargers' football clubhouse right next to their dressing room. There were a lot of puzzled expressions as the Padres headed for the field.

In the second inning, Ivan Murrell came to the plate with a bat given to the Padres by a Japanese team which visited the United States during spring training. Plate umpire Stan Landes ordered Murrell to change bats and he returned to the dugout but marched right back to the plate carrying his samurai weapon.

The Japanese bat is hollowed out at the thick end, sort of a concave shape. Gomez said Lou Brock of St. Louis used it against the Padres over the weekend and Al Barlick, the league's senior umpire, said it was legal. Walker, however, played the game under protest.

In the fifth inning, still using the Japanese bat, Murrell slammed a drive into the left field stands which third base umpire Bob Engel called foul. That drew a heated argument from the Padres, with the usual outcome.

The final indignity came in the seventh, when San Diego's Dave Campbell singled home the tying run. Catcher Jack Hiatt flung the bat away from the plate where Campbell had dropped it and it struck on-deck

2 Pitchers Hurt AL Bat Averages

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Wilbur Wood is off relief and Bert Blyleven is back on strike. The two pitchers are throwing a lot of American League hitters out of work.

Wood, a former reliever, delivered again in his new starting role as the Chicago White Sox clouted the Kansas City Royals 7-2 Wednesday night. Blyleven, Minnesota's Dutch treat from Zeist, Holland, paralyzed Milwaukee with a 12-strikeout performance in a 4-1 Twins success. It was Wood's third victory as a starter and second straight route-going job in a career of 375 appearances, none of which had been complete games until the last two.

Wood got a starting assignment when Joe Horlen was hurt on the last day of spring training.

Blyleven, a 20-year-old strong arm who won 10 games in his rookie season last year, has been even more impressive this season. Among his six victories have been three shutouts and two one-run games, including Wednesday's eight-hitter.

The California Angels beat the Oakland A's 7-5 in 12 innings; the New York Yankees trimmed the Detroit Tigers 2-1; the Baltimore Orioles clipped the Cleveland Indians 3-2 and the Boston Red Sox turned back the Washington Senators by a similar 3-2 score.

National League: Montreal 11, Atlanta 1; San Francisco 6, Los Angeles 4; Philadelphia 3, New York 2 in 12 innings; Pittsburgh 2, Cincinnati 0; St. Louis 9, Chicago 4 and Houston took a doubleheader from San Diego 2-1 and 8-0.

Wood surrendered only six hits, including Dennis Paepke's two-run homer in the Kansas City seventh. But by that time, it was too late for the Royals. The White Sox had broken up a scoreless duel between Wood and Kansas City's Mike Hedlund with a six-run sixth, their biggest inning of the season. Mike Andrews' two-run single keyed the rally.

Blyleven encountered little trouble, giving up one fourth-inning run as Minnesota capitalized on Milwaukee mistakes. A Brewers' error helped the Twins break a 1-1 tie in the fifth and another miscue helped them score two more times in the sixth.

Blyleven wasn't satisfied with his performance, although he trimmed his earned run average to about a run and a half a game and tied Jim Perry for the club lead in victories.

Minnesota Manager Bill Rigney agreed: "He looked like he didn't have the good natural stuff. He had to work. But the sign of an outstanding pitcher is when he wins even though he doesn't have the good stuff."

Pinch-hitter Jim Fregosi blasted a two-run homer in the 12th inning to carry California over Oakland. Jim Spencer, a seventh-inning pinch-hitter who stayed in the game, tied the contest 5-5 for California with a leadoff homer in the ninth.

Roy White's two-out, two-run double off Mike Kilkenny in the eighth inning helped New York snap Detroit's seven-game winning streak. Mel Stottlemyre earned his fifth victory with a six-hitter.

White's hit followed a dispute between third base umpire Ron Luciano and Tiger Manager Bill Martin when Martin tried to go to the pitcher's mound. Luciano ruled that since Martin had already gone to the mound once while White was batting, he couldn't go again to take Kilkenny out until the next batter came up.

Martin then brought in Fred Scherman—after the game-winning hit.

Ellie Hendricks, batting .175 at game time, stroked three singles to drive in two runs and figured in all of Baltimore's scoring as the Orioles topped Cleveland behind Mike Cuellar. Cuellar allowed eight hits as he pitched his fourth straight complete game and notched his sixth victory.

Reserve catcher Bob Montgomery's third straight single drove in the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning for Boston. Billy Conigliaro opened the inning with his second double of the game and was sacrificed to third. Montgomery, playing because regular receiver Duane Josephson has a shoulder injury, then walloped a line shot to right field to snap a 2-2 tie.

Owners and Pro Gridmen at Odds

NEW YORK (AP) — The little internal war being fought between the National Football League owners and the NFL Players Association has taken still another turn—and it may very well be that never has so much energy expended over so few words.

The issue is some of the wording in the pending contract between the owners and the players, supposedly wrapped up last Feb. 28 but still being contested today despite a ruling handed down by the National Labor Relations Board in Minneapolis.

The NLRB ruled Wednesday that the owners have a duty to sign the agreement reached on Feb. 28 or appear before a hearing. The owners have chosen to appear for a hearing, adding to the volume of rhetoric on the subject.

The notice that the owners would appear for a hearing came in a statement over the signature of conference presidents George Halas and Lamar Hunt, which said:

"We welcome the regional director's intervention because we believe it will provide us with an opportunity to present our position in a manner which has not previously been afforded to us."

Canonero Is Merely Latest of Long Line of Surprising Colts

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The story of Canonero II, unwanted as a yearling and sloughed off for a mere $1,200 to a dealer, is just the latest rags-to-riches saga that makes thoroughbred horse racing so glamorous.

Back in 1942, of instance, there was Alsab, a $750 purchase who won the Preakness and ended his racing career with $350,015 in earnings. Then there was Styrmie, claimed for $1,500 and the winner of $918,465 for the late Hirsch Jacobs.

Perhaps the most spectacular bargain was Carry Back, who fired the imagination of racing fans as the "people's horse" a decade ago as Canonero II has done this year.

Carry Back, who cost Jack Price an estimated $700, ended his racing career with earnings of $1,241,165—fifth place on the alltime money-winning list.

Carry Back, just as Canonero II did this year, scored spectacular victories in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Carry Back usually came from far back to win with breath-taking stretch runs, but like Canonero II, he showed he could go right to the front and beat speed horses at their own game. He did it one time at Aqueduct when he raced on the lead with Beau Purple and pulled away in the stretch.

It was somewhat similar to Canonero II surprising in this year's Preakness by racing head-and-head on the lead with Eastern Fleet and drawing out at the end.

Carry Back, considered as coming from the wrong side of the tracks because of unfashionable breeding, was sired by Saggy out of an obscure mare, Joppy. Price, who ran a farm near Cleveland at the time, acquired Joppy for $150, plus another $300 for Joppy's board bill, or $450.

On the way to Florida, Price stopped in Maryland in 1957 and had Joppy and two other mares bred to Saggy for $1,200 or $400 a piece.

Saggy's one claim to fame was his surprise victory over Citation on a rainy Monday at the old Havre de Grace track in the Chesapeake Trial. It was the only setback for Citation as a 3-year-old in 1948, when he won the Triple Crown, a feat no colt has done since.

Canonero II's bid to join Citation and the seven other Triple Crown winners in thoroughbred racing immortality comes in just 103rd running of the Belmont Stakes.

In other Dixie action, Dallas-Fort Worth blanked Birmingham 5-0, Asheville bombed Columbus 12-1, Savannah clobbered Montgomery 9-1 and Shreveport at Amarillo was rained out.

offer to the players "to meet with the association to clarify certain matters in the draft of the agreement so that it can be signed."

It appeared doubtful the players would agree to that since the players contend that the wording of the Feb. 28 agreement, initialed by both sides, was changed by the owners at their March meetings in Florida before being signed.

The players turned that contention into an unfair labor practice charge against the owners, contending they had a duty to sign the Feb. 28 agreement. That's the complaint the NLRB ruled on Wednesday, and the one the owners now will have their say on.

While the owners were occupied with the player contract at their Wednesday sessions they also occupied themselves with rules changes and made two they think "will make offensive coaches happy."

Ali to Fight Ellis in 7 Weeks

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Part of Muhammad Ali's little secret is out—he will fight Jimmy Ellis in seven weeks.

Ali stormed into Minnesota Wednesday for a speaking engagement and, with an air of mystery, said he would announce tonight the full details for his first bout since losing a 15-round decision to heavyweight champion Joe Frazier March 8.

"I can't say who, where or when," Ali first said at a news conference. "You'll know all by Thursday night."

The Associated Press learned that Ali would meet Ellis, Ali's former sparring partner when he rose to the heavyweight title under the name of Cassius Clay.

Ali then confirmed Ellis really was his next opponent, and said he would leave today by car for Chicago with a friend to make formal announcement by tonight of where and when the fight will be held.

He would not elaborate on further details or say if he would make the announcement in Chicago.

Frazier knocked out Ellis in February 1970 for the World Boxing Association championship after the WBA stripped Ali of his title for his conviction of refusing induction into the Army in 1967.

The U.S. Supreme is reviewing Ali's appeal that he should be classified as a conscientious objector because of his Black Muslim religion, and he expects a decision within two months.

Ali said he would be ready to meet Frazier again "anytime after Jan. 1."

"Before I meet Frazier again I'd like to have two more matches," Ali said, adding he would like to take on pro basketball star Wilt Chamberlain if the right contract could be arranged.

If we could just wrap it all up.

Litter is a complex problem. And solving it calls for understanding and united action.

1. Litter isn't caused by bottles or cans or convenience packaging. Litter is caused by the thoughtless man. The thinking man can stop it.

2. The natural first step is individual action. Let's all be a little more thoughtful. Let's make sure that we ourselves are not adding to the litter problem.

3. The thinking man takes active steps to keep his community clean. The tools are at hand.

4. The United States Brewers Association is ready to help you. We're working at the local and national levels to create greater public awareness. To attack apathy. To help keep America Beautiful.

5. If we tackle this problem together, we can soon have it all wrapped up. Write us today and we'll help your community develop a campaign against litter.

Patterson in Unanimous Decision

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "I wasn't trying to put him away," said former world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson after scoring a unanimous 10-round decision over Terry Daniels of Dallas, Texas, Wednesday night before a crowd of 5,789 at the Cleveland Arena.

"I'm a boxer," said Patterson. "If I'm ahead, the longer I'm in the ring, the better it is for me."

The 36-year-old Patterson, who weighed in at 190½—two pounds more than Daniels—labeled his opponents as very tough.

"If Terry Daniels had been the first fight of my comeback, I wouldn't be here," said the 19-year ring veteran. "He can take a good punch better than I thought he could."

It was the fourth victory for Patterson since he came out of a two-year retirement last October and it boosted his career mark to 50-7-1. The loss was only the third for Daniels against 24 wins and one draw.

Manning Pay Demand Hard on Saints

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The New England Patriots are having no trouble in contract negotiations with Jim Plunkett. But the New Orleans Saints are at a complete stand-still in talks with Archie Manning because his agent is "asking a figure the greatest quarterbacks never got."

The difference in negotiations involving the two clubs and the first two quarterbacks selected in the pro draft are astonishing—Upton Bell, the Patriots' general manager smiling over proceedings with Plunkett's agent and Vic Schwenk, the Saints' general manager, grimacing over proceedings with Manning's representative.

"We are not even close together and I do not feel they are being reasonable," Schwenk explained during a break at the National Football League owners' meeting here. "We're not in any way trying to be stingy. Our offer is more than legitimate."

What Manning is asking is anyone's guess. But it is known that Joe Namath signed a $427,000 contract when he was a rookie and quarterbacks such as Johnny Unitas, John Brodie and Fran Tarkenton are in the $100,000-a-year category.

The problems with Manning, according to Schwenk, stem from two factors—Manning's agent, Frank Grothwait, is a rookie negotiator handling his first contract and the pro basketball war that has spawned million-dollar contracts for untested rookies.

While Schwenk mulls the situation over, Bell can't help but be pleased with the Plunkett negotiations being conducted through his agent, Wayne Hooper.

"He's been in 15 to 20 negotiations before," said Bell, "and negotiations have been very pleasant, although no final agreement has been reached. He's given me some figures and I've given him some figures."

"As far as anyone being adamant on either side, there's been no such problem. We've had no problems. But one thing you have to consider is Plunkett himself. He's one of the nicest kids I ever met. The whole tone of my relationship with him has been real fair."

"He's not trying to be a big shot," Bell continued. "He's a completely different type of guy. He's different than the Joe Namath type, the cocky type around today. He's a poised, mature kid for his age who has his future all mapped out for himself."

"Everybody wants to make as much money in life as possible but he, for one, doesn't have money on his mind all the time."

The Patriots, however, have Plunkett on their mind much of the time and have placed at least one price on his head by insuring him for several pre-season all-star games in which he will perform before joining the club.

The figure is $250,000.

Before the Persian invasion of Greece. Themistocles was informed by the Delphi oracle that his city and country were doomed to ruin. But a "wooden wall" would shelter the citizens. Hernia Should Be Mended Surgically

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—What is the difference between a hernia, a rupture and a femoral? I went to an appliance store and they told me I have a rupture but my doctor says I have a hernia. I have a new cushion but it does not hold my rupture. It still comes out. It's as large as an apple, so I lie down and put it back up. I just don't think it's the right cushion for it.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Hernia Should Be Mended Surgically

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Reader—The term rupture is often used by lay people for a hernia. Strictly speaking you can have a rupture of almost anything, including a rupture of a blister of the stomach, rupture of the bladder, ruptured appendix, all of which really means a break or tear.

A hernia is a protrusion of a portion of the body through a tear or opening. Your letter indicates you have one of the more common forms in which you probably have a breakdown or tear in the muscles and tissues that hold your intestines in the abdominal cavity. Through a hole or tear a portion of the small intestine slips out of the abdominal cavity. This is what you feel.

I am not very enthusiastic about cushions or other devices used to apply external pressure to a hernia. In almost every instance the proper medical approach is a surgical repair.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your column regarding enlargement of the prostate gland. My brother has a similar condition and the doctor said it is malignant. Do you advise an operation in this case?

Dear Reader—A decision to operate or not depends on the total picture of the patient. Sometimes there are enough complications associated with the problem to rule out surgery. In addition to doing surgery on the prostate gland itself when a cancer is present, sometimes the testicles are removed and a female hormone is administered.

All of these measures are designed to decrease the growth of prostate tissue and any tumors that may have developed from the dissemination of the malignancy to other parts of the body, if any have.

Whether or not these measures are necessary must be judged on the basis of a comprehensive medical examination. Proper adequate treatment early enough often produces a marked remission in the malignancy and gives a person many years of useful life.

I would like to emphasize however, that most enlarged prostate glands are not malignant but cause trouble by blocking off urine flow from the bladder.

Court Enters Plea of Innocence

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — A federal judge entered innocent pleas Tuesday for the Rev. Philip Berrigan and six other persons after they refused to answer charges lodged against them in an alleged plot to bomb heating installations in Washington, D.C. and to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman entered pleas for the defendants after they refused to do so. Instead they tried to read personal statements in court denouncing the indictment and the Vietnam war.

Herman refused to permit reading of the statements, ruling them as "out of place," but accepted them for the record.

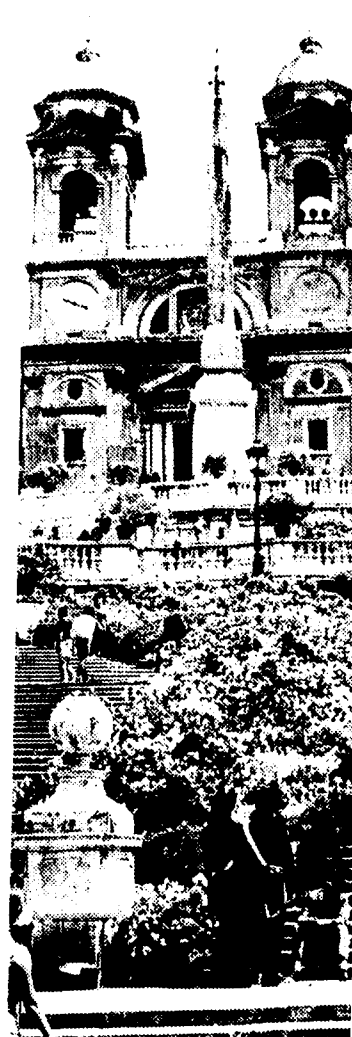

In a joint statement following the arraignment the defendants reaffirmed their previous declaration: "We are neither bombers, nor kidnapers nor conspirators."

Berrigan, a Roman Catholic priest and the alleged mastermind of the plot, was brought here from Danbury, Conn., where he is serving a six-year sentence for destroying draft board records.

An eighth defendant, the Rev. Neil McLaughlin, 30, of Baltimore, was attending his father's funeral. He was rescheduled to be arraigned next Wednesday.

Arraignment proceedings also were held for three other persons charged with criminal contempt for refusing to answer questions of a federal grand jury investigating the alleged plot.

Ann Mentz, 26, Philadelphia, pleaded innocent. But Paul Cuning, 22, Boston and John

Summoning of Top Men Refused

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — A military judge has denied a request that Army Secretary Stanley Resor and Chief of Staff Gen. William C. Westmoreland be called as defense witnesses for Col. Oran K. Henderson, accused of participating in an alleged cover-up of the My Lai massacre.

Ruling Tuesday at an evidence hearing, Col. Peter S. Wondolowski said that Henderson's lawyer failed to demonstrate the possible relevancy of testimony by Resor and Westmoreland to Henderson's case.

Henry Rothblatt, Henderson's civilian lawyer, gave no specific details why he wanted Resor and Westmoreland called to the witness stand. But he said there is an "urgent" need for the general's testimony.

Swinglish, 27, Washington, did not enter pleas. Herman entered innocent pleas for them.

Besides Berrigan and McLaughlin the six other defendants are:

—Sister Elizabeth McAlister, 31, professor of art at Marymount College, Tarrytown, N.Y., and a member of the Religious Order of the Sacred Heart of Mary.

—Dr. Egbal Ahmad, 40, a Pakistani scholar now studying in Chicago.

—Anthony Scoblick, 30, a former priest, and his wife, Mary, 33, a former nun, from Baltimore.

—The Rev. Joseph Wenderhorst, 35, a Baltimore priest.

—John T. Glick, 21, Lancaster, Pa., now serving 10 months for raiding a federal building in Rochester, N.Y.

3 Against Field in the '500'

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — It will be Bobby Unser, Denis Hulme and Lloyd Ruby against the field in Saturday's 55th running of the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

That's the word from Peter DePaolo, for 51 years a court-side observer at the Speedway and winner of the 13th edition of the race in 1925.

"Unser is a tiger," DePaolo said Wednesday as drivers in the 33-car starting field ran through carburetion tests—their last chance to run the 2.5-mile speedway until the 11 a.m. start Saturday. "He's cool and he's smart."

"Hulme is the long distance boy, a cold-hard professional and he probably knows the car he'll drive better than any driver in the field."

"Ruby is my sentimental favorite," the 72-year-old DePaolo continued. "This is his 12th start at the Speedway and for that reason, alone, I'd like to see him win. But Ruby also is a whole of a driver and he has a top-notch car. I think he can do it."

Bobby Unser backed up DePaolo's selection by lapping the track at 172.084 miles per hour Wednesday while carrying a full load of fuel. The speed was only about three miles per hour slower than his four lap qualifying speed of 175.816 m.p.h. Unser, the 1968 winner, will start outside on the front row.

Hulme, the fourth best qualifier at 174.910 m.p.h., is driving one of the new winged McLaren built in England. A former world driving champion and two-time winner of the Can-Am road racing series, Hulme has been a part of the McLaren organization for several years and actually had a part in designing the car he'll drive Saturday.

As for Unser, DePaolo not only counts on the ability of the older of the two Albuquerque, N.Mex., driving brothers, but he says "here again, the car

Soviet Chess Masters Vie for Title

MOSCOW (AP) — Viktor Korchnoi and Yefim Geller, Soviet grandmasters competing in the quarter-finals of the challengers round for the World Chess Championship, adjourned their seventh game Wednesday night.

The game is to be completed today. Tass reported adjournment came on the 41st move with the game "in a complex position."

After six games Korchnoi was leading 3½ to 2½.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — James William Fitzsimmons, eldest grandson of the late trainer James "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons of Thoroughbred racing fame, has been named assistant general manager of Saratoga Harness Racing Inc.

HAMILTON (AP) — The Hamilton Tiger-Cats have signed two American football players to 1971 contracts, the Canadian Football League club said Wednesday.

They were Scott Henderson, 22, a linebacker with Texas and Garry Grady, a defensive half-back who signed with Miami Dolphins of the National Football League in 1969 as a free agent.

EAST GRAND FORKS, Minn. (AP) — Bill Fitch figures the drafting of Notre Dame's Austin Carr and Wake Forest's Charlie Davis will give his Cleveland team in the National Basketball Association "as good a pair of guards as you'll see within a few years."

Meanwhile, Fitch says he is still looking for a big man.

"Noah built an ark and put two of every animal in it," Fitch said at a recent high school banquet. "That means there's another Alcindor somewhere and I'm looking for will count. Bobby's car is a Dan Gurney Eagle, and you have to go along with the obvious fact that Gurney is one of the best race car builders in the world."

DePaolo rode "shotgun" with his uncle Ralph DePaola in two Indy 500s before making the first of his eight starts as a driver in 1922. He was the first to break the 100 m.p.h. barrier at the speedway and his 101.13 m.p.h. average for the 1925 race stood for seven years.

Hill May Quit Tourney Circuit

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Dave Hill, beset by troubles with his game and involved in a major flap with pro golf's governing body, may be about ready to pack it in for the year.

"If I don't start playing better, if I don't start doing what I want to do, Ol' Davy ain't gonna play much more," the slim, intense Hill said today before teeing off in the first round of the $175,000 Danny Thomas Memphis Golf Classic.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset

Hill, winner of this tournament three of the last four years, was a heavy favorite for the $35,000 first prize despite his varied problems.

"I'm only entered in three tournaments after the U.S. Open," Hill continued. "If I don't start playing better, that's all I'm going to play. I'm just going to go home and work on my game."

The 34-year-old Hill, winner of eight tour titles and more than $100,000 each of the last two years, had to pay a $500 fine for "conduct unbecoming a professional golfer" before he was allowed to compete in the pro-am preceding this event.

The wiry, highly-strung Hill, center of a number of major controversies in recent years—including his much-publicized criticism of the U.S. Open course at Chaska, Minn. last year—paid the fine only after a long huddle with his agent and a battery of attorneys.

He said he would appeal and his attorney admitted possible legal action "has been discussed."

The fine was levied by the Tournament Players Division of the PGA for Hill's actions last week in the Colonial National Invitation, where he threw a ball out of a trap on the 18th hole and purposely signed an incorrect scorecard.

The fine is larger than usual, a TPD spokesman said, "because Mr. Hill is not a first time offender." There were indications that further disciplinary action may be taken.

In addition to Hill, other top contenders in the 72-hole test included Lee Trevino, Billy Casper and Gene Littler.

International Paper Company is planting an exotic oak tree on an experimental basis in selected areas of Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas. The pilot program will determine the feasibility of planting sawtooth oak trees to supplement natural wildlife food on the Company's forest holdings. The sawtooth oak is a prolific producer of acorns... a favorite food of deer, wild turkeys and squirrels.

Camden-International Paper Company is planting a new type of oak tree on an experimental basis in selected areas of Arkansas, Louisiana, and Texas. The pilot program will determine the feasibility of planting sawtooth oak trees in pine plantations to supplement natural wildlife food on the Company's forest holdings.

The sawtooth oak, technically named Quercus acutissima, originated in the Orient. The tree, described by the Soil Conservation Service as a choice food tree for wildlife, grows to be about 70 feet in height with foliage resembling that of a chestnut tree.

Acorns are large, with a yield of 40 to 80 acorns per pound when freshly fallen and more resistant to damage from common insects and disease than native acorns.

In test plantings in Arkansas and Louisiana, the Soil Conservation Service has reported that individual sawtooth oak trees have produced acorns within three years after planting, but they usually begin producing at the age of six years. The sawtooth oak is capable of producing large quantities of acorns annually, whereas white oak, post oak and southern red oak seldom produce their first acorns before their twenty-fifth year and their erratic acorn yield rarely exceeds 15 to 20 pounds per tree.

International Paper has purchased 3,000 sawtooth oak seedlings, according to David Campbell, Regional Forester for the Company's Western Woodlands Region in Camden, Arkansas. A portion of the sawtooth oak seedlings have been planted in seed orchards on I-P lands in Calhoun County, Arkansas; Tyler and Nacogdoches County, Texas; and Vernon Parish, Louisiana.

The sawtooth seedlings will be cultivated and fertilized to gain full potential from the trees. Acorns will be gathered from these trees as they mature under garden-like conditions in the seed orchards and will be planted in and around pine plantations the Company has established.

The seed orchards in which the sawtooth oaks will be grown were originally created as part of International Paper Company's Tree Improvement Program. Another species of hardwood, cherrybark oak, is also being grown in these seed orchards.

Sawtooth oak seedlings not planted in seed orchards have been planted under varying conditions on Company lands to determine the most favorable growing sites for the species. The seedlings will be checked periodically by Company personnel to evaluate the tree in relation to its growing habits.

Other species of hardwood trees being planted on Company land under this program include sweetgum, sycamore, green ash, hackberry and willow oak. Campbell noted that it is the hope of International Paper Company that the sawtooth oak will improve the wildlife habitat, particularly for squirrels and deer.

Ordained a minister in the First Fraternal Spiritual Church in Chicago in 1939, Mrs. Miller says she earned her mediumship through two years of class-work and training sessions between 1929 and 1931.

Contact with the spiritual world came first when she was 12, she explained. She said she was 4 years old when her mother died and her father was killed in a railroad accident when she was 12. "When some ladies came to tell me he was dead, I told them how it happened," she said, although she was not present at his death.

She said she heard "knocks" and had seen her father materialize several times prior to his death, but did not understand the meanings.

When Mrs. Miller came to Hot Springs in 1950, she started a "little church gathering" in her home. She regularly has services if four or five people come on Sunday night. If less show up, she will just give "messages" to those who do come, from "loved ones who have passed."

Last September she began a class for those who aspire to become mediums. On Monday nights, she gives a spontaneous lecture, "just whatever comes out of me," offers prayer for healing and has her students "give what they got (psychic revelations) during the week." Her students pay $1 per class.

Charging $3 per session for an individual reading, she has a standard operating procedure for coaxing spirits to offer messages. She takes her client into a small room, seats them, goes to a phonograph and plays a hymn, then prays.

During a brief demonstration reading, Mrs. Miller elicited the following response from a demonstration subject about the psychic performance:

Speaking is a young woman: "She said that it would probably be harder for her to get through to me than others since I was an unbeliever."

"She told me there would be a change in my life."

"She said she saw balls of light come in through the window. The lights were supposed to be relatives of mine who had 'passed on.' The only specific relative she named was my grandfather, but she named him only after she asked me if I had a grandmother who was dead. She gave me some word of advice from him about being patient but it was so unlike my grandfather I let it pass."

"When she first touched my hand she said she felt that I was troubled over something. However, she told me not to worry because the problem would be overcome and things would be all right."

The young man didn't accept the session as valid.

Many do, however. A steady customer, an older man who comes to her twice a month says she's "one of the best. They really come in through her."

There are 78 cards in a Tarot deck. Of this number, 22 depict scenes and characters and are known as the major Arcana, they represent forces and conflicts benign, evil or neutral that govern human life, according to Wollglen.

Of the remaining 56 yards, there are four suits with 14 each, every card has a meaning all its own.

Decks of the cards have been discovered that were produced in Switzerland in 1377, Italy in 1379, Belgium and Germany in 1380, Spain in 1387 and England in 1432.

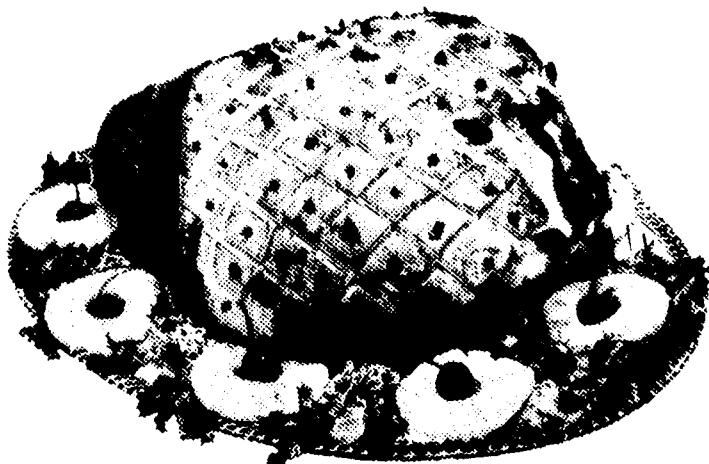

A reading by Wollglen is a performance by a skilled entertainer as well as one adept at Tarot.

In preparation for a reading, the subject seeking information will shuffle the cards, then Wollglen spreads them out on a small table in six lines with each line seven cards wide.

When the pattern of the cards is made, the interpreter reads from right to left beginning at the upper right hand portion of the display.

The first two lines deal with things taking place now or in the recent past. The middle due of lines represent the now or the near future, possibly next week. The final couplet of lines depict the future, next week or month. Each card is colorful. Some are garishly designed and painted, allowing for immediate interpretation even to an untrained observer, though not necessarily the favored Tarot meaning.

Withdrawal Date Hangs Peace Parley

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam's chief delegate to the Paris peace talks said today that unless the United States set a date for its total and unconditional withdrawal from South Vietnam, the talks "can make no further progress."

Xuan Thuy made the statement to newsmen at the start of the 114th weekly session of the long-deadlocked talks. However, he did not threaten to break off the talks.

With chief U.S. negotiator David K.E. Bruce in Washington for consultations, his place was taken today by his deputy, Philip Habib. Thuy made no reference to Bruce's absence but said:

"If the American delegate today does not announce a reasonable date for the withdrawal of all U.S. forces, then the conference can make no further progress."

As he spoke, about 170 relatives of Americans held prisoner or missing in Indochina stood silently across the street. Each had the date of capture or disappearance of his or her servicemen pinned on.

Thuy took no visible notice of the demonstrators, who were kept on the opposite side of Avenue Kleber by a large contingent of riot police.

The United States and South Vietnam had hoped that Hanoi and the Viet Cong would announce at today's session their formal acceptance of arrangements for the transfer at sea of 570 North Vietnamese sick and wounded prisoners to be released by the Saigon government.

American and South Vietnamese negotiators believed the unprecedented large transfer might foreshadow a relaxation of the hitherto rigid enemy attitude on the question of prisoners.

But a remark made by the Viet Cong's Nguyen Van Tien, deputizing for the absent negotiator, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, suggested that no such relaxation is likely in the near future.

Only the announcement of a withdrawal date, Tien told newsmen, could "create favorable conditions for the rapid settlement of all outstanding questions, including the release of captured military men."

South Vietnamese negotiator Pham Dang Lam placed on the conference record Saigon's detailed proposals for the prisoner transfer, to take place in Tonkin Gulf on June 4.

Legislation on Drugs Is in Doubt

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Prosecutor Jim Guy Tucker of Little Rock, in an attempt to determine whether the new state Drug Control Act makes a drug offense a felony or a misdemeanor, has refilled a felony drug violation against Jo Gail Eller, 22, of Little Rock.

Tucker said that, if necessary, he would take the case to the state Supreme Court to test the intent of the new law, Act 590.

Miss Eller was one of 14 persons originally charged with felony drug violations May 4. Tucker dropped the charges against all of the defendants May 17 because the defense attorneys filed motions contending that Act 590 made all drug offenses misdemeanors.

Tucker said he chose Miss Eller for the test case because her attorney was the first defense attorney to file a motion questioning the purpose of Act 590.

The charge filed Wednesday accuses Miss Eller under the previous drug law, which made drug violations a felony, of illegally obtaining a depressant or stimulant drug March 26. Act 590, which became effective after March 26, says the lesser penalty provided by the two laws would apply to any violation, regardless of whether the violation had occurred under the old law.

Honey Shoots for New Record

Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Russell of Rosston Road are the proud owners of "Honey" an English Bulldog. Honey, shown above, almost outdid herself last weekend when she became the mother of 12 puppies. The record litter of English Bulls is 13. The litter is sired by Dickensdrue Silver Spurs of Oklahoma City, who has been National Grand Champion several times. Honey doesn't have dining space for all her youngsters, but as anyone can see, baby bottles serve as well.

The youngster in the picture is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Stroud and the granddaughter of the Russell's.

BACK TO THE GOOD OLD AMERICAN DREAM

Dear Helen:

Last week at our high school a student slipped a frog in the coffee pot. Some of the teachers got uncool because the frog was preserved in a solution that is kind of poisonous, but nobody got sick and, besides, it didn't hurt the frog who was already dead.

When my mother heard about this, she was so sure my brother had done it that she practically confessed to the teacher. But my brother did not do it, as us kids know, but won't fink.

You see my brother is an "A" Honor student but he likes to have fun, being an ordinary American boy. He gets blamed for a lot that just seems like his type of thing. It's always "Check out Charlie first".

Shouldn't my mother have more trust than that? — SNOOPY

Dear Snoopy:

Don't worry about Charlie. A kid who can juggle straight "A's" with pranks and win fame both ways has got to go far! And I'm sure your mother agrees.

NOTE TO READERS: Ain't it wonderful? Frogs in coffee pots, instead of bombs in bd of Ed. buildings! Maybe we're getting back to the good ol' American dream. I even read about a college panty raid last week. Heartening!! — H.

Dear Helen:

Another school vacation comes and here we teenagers are again—sitting around, nothing to do.

I remember how I waited till the day I got my driver's license. Well it came, and Wow—there's no place to go. Bowling is too expensive; the beach too far away for a 16-year-old to drive; movies—they cost more than bowling and besides the good ones are "restricted". Of course we can't get jobs. You either have to be 18 or know the right people.

We try to play basketball or other games on the school grounds and get tossed out. Sure, it's partially the rowdy kids' fault, but just because some destroy property, must all of us pay?

Same with dances and teen centers. They're closed down as fast as they open because uptight adults complain. We feel that if more of these people would help organize and chaperone (inconspicuously) fun places, the trouble-makers could be controlled.

Please print this letter, Helen, and ask for suggestions or comments. —S.A.M.

Dear S.:

Duly printed.

One comment: You're asking that things be done for you when, if you'd concentrate on doing things for others—and yourselves—the summer might not be long enough for all your activities.

How about summer school—and don't groan. You pick up interesting, unusual courses and make many new friends there.

...And volunteer work? Hospitals, child care centers, homes for the retarded, projects in depressed areas—you'd be surprised at the number of places where teens can help.

Why not talk a church or service club into helping you organize a youth center? With this kind of sponsorship, and teen cooperation, the wild bunch would be no problem.

You might even go on an ecology kick and build a park on city land (with the city's blessing). Or volunteer your services at the local recycling center.

Okay, that's a start. Now, readers—take it from there. —H.

Withdrawal Would Avert Drug Blight

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new congressional report says so many American soldiers in Vietnam are being hooked on heroin that President Nixon should withdraw all U.S. troops unless the drug traffic is halted.

The report, prepared for the House Foreign Affairs Committee, says many high-ranking Laotian, Thai and Vietnamese officials have a major hand in illegal drug sales to GIs. In some cases, it says, U.S. planes and diplomatic pouches are used to ferry opium and heroin into Saigon.

The report recommends the President "take personal command of the struggle to eliminate the illegal international traffic in narcotics, particularly heroin, and commit the full resources of the country to that battle."

If these efforts fail, the study said, "The only solution is to withdraw American servicemen from Southeast Asia."

Rep. Robert Steele, R-Conn., is principal author of the report compiled after he and Rep. Morgan F. Murphy, D-Ill., toured Southeast Asia earlier this year.

An earlier report from the House Armed Services Committee also described corruption in the drug trade among South Vietnamese officials, but stopped short of indicating how heroin gets into Vietnam.

"In Laos, government armed forces are major wholesalers of opium and heroin and have been directly involved in large-scale smuggling activity," the new study says. "Reliable sources report that at least two high-ranking Laotian officials, military and governmental, including the chief of the Laotian general staff, are deeply involved in smuggling activity."

Internal Security Chief Stands on Uncomfortable Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Accidents of alphabet and origin place a lawyer named Ichord from Licking, Mo., somewhere in the middle of both the roll of the House and the America it represents.

But Richard Howard Ichord is No. 1 when he presides over a House committee born 33 years ago today.

He sits in the head chair on the House Internal Security Committee, known in its original incarnation as the Un-American Activities Committee—seeker of subversives, condemner of Communists.

He retains that seat by being a Democrat, party of majority at the moment, and by expressing a conservative philosophy appealing to enough voters in his rural Missouri district to return to Washington every two years.

When he takes the floor, he charges, the press generally pays no heed.

But on his forum as chairman of one of the House's three permanent investigating panels, Ichord gets total coverage—extra press table for overflow crowds, battery of television and radio gear, packed hearing room, witnesses under oath.

An April 6 House speech—titled "Plans of Militant Antiwar Groups to Launch Massive Demonstrations in Washington, D.C., April 24 to May 5, 1971, Responsible Dissent or Communist-Inspired Propaganda?"—and last week's public hearings aimed at the same subject.

"This is one of the things that concerns me about this whole matter," Ichord said in an interview. He is concerned the speech "received little attention in the nation's press, not at all which heroin is produced is grown in Burma and processed to Laos or Thailand.

"In Thailand," the report said, "a former diplomat and member of one of the most respected Thai families is reputed to be one of the key figures in the opium, morphine base, and heroin operations in that country and throughout Southeast Asia."

To get the drugs into Vietnam, Steele's report said, South Vietnamese and Laotian Air Force planes are frequently used.

A lesser amount is smuggled in on Air America, a Central Intelligence Agency-financed airline in Southeast Asia, the report said, adding there is evidence some diplomatic pouches carried from embassy to embassy also have been used for smuggling.

Some Thai soldiers carry heroin into Saigon without fear of being caught, according to the study.

Steele has estimated between 15 and 20 per cent of Americans in Vietnam have used heroin.

on the East Coast. Whenever the committee takes some action that might appear to be adverse to the objective of the committee, that phone just rings off the hook from you fellows in the press.

"And I think that's what happened in this respect, it received no publicity at all until the National Peace Action Coalition called a press conference for the purpose of denying the allegations that I made in the speech."

The National Coalition and the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, which joined with the Mayday Collective as sponsors of antiwar protests here in late April and early May, are targets as Ichord's panel investigates alleged subversive influence among leaders of peace groups.

The panel took four days of testimony last week, set more for next month, and Ichord said—in light of evidence at the hearings—his April 6 speech was "the understatement of the year."

Ichord, who turns 45 next month, is the youngest chairman of a House committee. Since taking over leadership of the panel in 1969, when he was in only his fifth term in Congress, Ichord has been trying to change the committee's image.

Wednesday Hottest Day in Arkansas

Wednesday was the hottest day of the year in Arkansas and similar readings are expected through Friday.

Temperatures reached the mid to upper 80s in all sections of the state Wednesday with Texarkana recording a high of 92. Highs today and Friday should be in the low 90s in the western portion of the state to mid and high 80s in the eastern section.

Thundershowers returned to Arkansas Wednesday night, developing in the west central portion of the state about 10 p.m. Precipitation continued during the night while slowly drifting east.

Shower activity was expected to decrease before noon today and then redevelop this afternoon in eastern Arkansas. A slight chance of showers is forecast for the eastern section of the state Friday.

Lows tonight should be in the high 50s to high 60s.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 61, Harrison 56, Jonesboro 58, Pine Bluff 68, Texarkana 67, El Dorado 65, Memphis 62, Little Rock 62 and Fort Smith 65.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. include .04 at Little Rock and .17 at Fort Smith and Texarkana.

Soviet and Egypt Renew Old Ties

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat maintained a united front in speeches at a Cairo banquet Wednesday night despite Sadat's recent purge of the most pro-Soviet members of his regime.

The two presidents condemned U.S. support of Israel, although Sadat indicated he will keep talking with Washington in an effort to reach an agreement allowing him to reopen the Suez Canal.

Podgorny and Sadat talked privately for an hour Wednesday in what an Egyptian official described as a "friendly and important session," then instructed their aides to make a detailed joint study of Soviet-Egyptian relations.

Qualified informants said the Soviets pledged continued support to Sadat in a bid to maintain "cordial relations." And Podgorny at a banquet given for him Wednesday night said he was "relieved" to find the Sadat government pursuing the policies of the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Although Podgorny obviously came to Cairo to assess the situation in the wake of Sadat's purge of leading leftists he charged were plotting to overthrow him, there was no public mention of the power struggle or the arrest of such Kremlin supporters as Vice President Aly Sabry, Information Minister Mohamed Fayek and presidential aide Sami Sharaf.

Instead the two presidents, in their speeches at the banquet, concentrated their fire on the U.S. government and accused it of sabotaging peace efforts in the Middle East by its continued support of Israel.

Sadat said his government has told Washington it regards continued military and financial backing for Israel as "tantamount to participation in the occupation of our land."

Podgorny spoke of "many sugar-coated statements by American officials about Washington's alleged desire to restore peace in the Middle East."

"Sure enough," he continued, "they will not object to a so-called peaceful settlement—so long as it is the kind of settlement which would enable America, through Israel, to impose her will and maintain the kind of regimes she favors in the area."

In Jerusalem, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said he believes Israel will have trouble getting military supplies from the United States in the future. He told a meeting of his Labor party that Washington does not want to hurt its efforts to improve relations with Egypt by sending Israel large amounts of arms.

Legislative Harmony for Prison Chief

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — John Haley of Little Rock, chairman of the state Board of Correction, said Wednesday that Terrell Don Hutto, the state's new correction commissioner, would not encounter problems that former commissioner Robert Sarver and former prison Supt. Thomas O. Murton had with the legislature.

Sarver, who replaced Murton, was fired March 29 after members of the legislature exerted pressure on Gov. Dale Bumpers to have Sarver removed.

Haley said Hutto, who was hired by the board May 15, would be a more effective administrator of the prisons because he would be able to delegate duty and would be able to refrain from making public statements on controversial issues.

Haley's remarks were made in a speech to the Little Rock Sertoma Club.

On another topic, Haley said it was not possible to make the prison pay for itself and rehabilitate prisoners at the same time.

"We're not running a slave camp," Haley said. He said the only way to make the farm profitable was the use of the strap to beat the prisoners when they did not do their jobs.

Haley said, however, the board was trying to set up some type of factory where products could be made by the inmates and sold to the state. He said

38 GIs Are Killed in Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported today that 38 Americans died in combat in Indochina last week. It was the highest total in three weeks, but it did not include all of the 30 men killed in three North Vietnamese shelling attacks last Friday.

A spokesman for the command, Maj. Richard Gardner, said he did not know how many of the 30 were included and how many were not. He said those who were not were omitted because of delays in the reporting system. Gardner said the rest would be included in this week's total, which will be announced next Thursday.

Another 50 Americans were wounded in the three attacks, all of which were made on U.S. bases in South Vietnam's northernmost provinces. Most of the casualties occurred at a base called Charlie 2, just below the demilitarized zone.

The weekly summary reported 92 Americans wounded in action last week, a sharp drop from 240 the previous week and the lowest total since Jan. 3-9, when 83 were reported. But the total did not include all 50 wounded in the three shellings.

The spokesman also reported 11 Americans dead from such nonhostile causes as accidents or illness last week, compared with 27 the week before.

The summary raised the total number of Americans reported killed in action in the war to 45,183 and the total wounded to 299,434. Deaths from nonhostile causes total 9,548.

The factory would teach the inmates skills and make money for the prison.
